Community-minded students at Lambeth Academy's Delta House voted to raise money for Trinity last term. Kath Milligan teaches English at the Academy and explains why it was important to them:

"I asked Delta House to pick a charity that they would like to support. They felt there was a need to form relationships with their local community and agreed that Trinity Hospice was doing amazing and essential work for many people in the local area and decided it was the charity they wished to help."

Delta house have so far raised £546.16 by holding own clothes days, selling Easter chicks, having cake sales and much more...

Well done to all involved and keep up the good work!
